

Looking for a new fun approach to your child's therapy?

Dance, Music, and Occupational Therapy all in one session!

Realizing that the need for therapy and recourses for our children is rapidly growing, Jackie Olson and Stephanie Clay have created a program for all types of children with special needs of all ages. Dance class structured around your child's needs followed by Occupational Therapy session.

Enjoying dance class, music, and play. Your child will not feel as though they have just worked their gross motor skills, fine motor skills, vision, speech, and full sensory system. It is a fun way to approach therapy to keep children engaged long term and to prevent them from getting "therapied out". The combination of movement, music, and therapeutic activity improves self performance in self regulation, self care, social skills, developmental functioning, and more.

Children will be placed in a semi private class together by age and areas of focus.

Private class is available for those who require 1:1
